

L&A is an industry leader in conducting management and technical assessment services for the Department of Energy and its contractors, leading to improved performance for all of our clients.

Capabilities

Our staff includes highly experienced former nuclear weapons, and nuclear facility executives, managers, operators and subject matter experts (SMEs) with extensive assessment and mentoring skills who can:

- Assist you in developing and implementing a corporate or project management review system
- Conduct project management assessments & independent project/technical/technology reviews
- Perform Integrated Safety Management System (ISMS) assessments in preparation for ISMS validation
- Conduct Causal Analysis
- Conduct Earned Value Management System (EVMS) certification and compliance reviews
- Process and procedure reviews and simplification
- Mentor project and program managers
- Staff executive level advisory and assistance teams
- Participate as team members and subject matter experts for reviews.
- Assist in corporate/project preparations for DOE/client reviews such as EIRs.
- Conduct cost assessments and cost reviews

The benefits of these assessments include finding and addressing issues before DOE or the regulator- thereby avoiding fines, fee loss, adverse publicity, or costly repeat mistakes. Staff available for these assessments and related projects range from subject matter experts to senior executives who have managed major projects or nuclear facilities, ranging from class 1 reactors to processing facilities, R&D facilities, and waste burial grounds, all of which are regulated by NRC and/or DOE

Project Experience

Recent experience includes providing team members to the Hanford Waste Treatment Plant to assess their internal Management Improvement Program and Quality Assurance Program. In addition, L&A has provided SMEs in a number of disciplines for DOE peer reviews and we have conducted Independent Cost Estimates and Independent Cost Reviews for several DOE acquisition projects ranging in size and complexity from the tens of millions to several billion dollars.

L&A has conducted EVMS surveillances and for cause reviews, and has also led and conducted External Independent Reviews for DOE in the areas of scope, cost and schedule.
